

One house

A new agentic social network that proactively connects you with strangers who fit you.
Tell your agent about yourself, and agent match you into dates, jobs and new friendships.

Got it. Someone who joined today fits what you told me.

HP

Harrison Park

Backend engineer · Brooklyn

You both want to build in climate. He is looking for a designer who has shipped a consumer app.

Introduce me

Not now

Team

GK

Gunwoo Kim

Ex-DEEPDIVE, unspecialty

HH

Hyeongjun Huh

Ex-Pickle (W25) · Total GitHub Star 4k+

Your agent grows your network beyond people you know.

Today

Social media is for people you already know.

Even that is fading. Strangers only appear as videos, never as the people you meet.

17% of Facebook time is friends' content. 7% on Instagram.

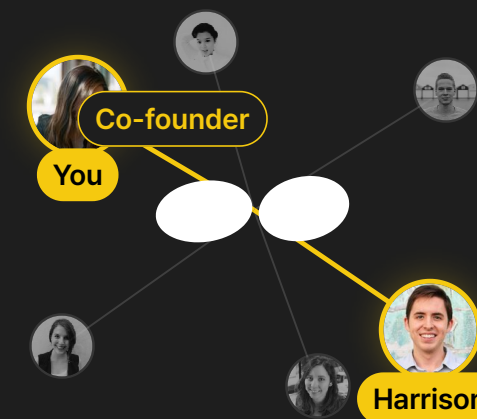

FTC v. Meta, Memorandum Opinion, 2025

With One house

An agent layer introduces you to strangers who fit.

It knows everyone in context, so it can match people who would never find each other. And an intro from someone else lands better than promoting yourself.

01

Talk, don't post

Just tell your agent about yourself. No profile to write, nothing to brag about.

02

It finds who fits

It matches what you say and what you linked, like LinkedIn or GitHub. And it tells you why you fit.

03

Both say yes

You say yes, then the other side does. No stranger can message you until both sides agree.